

NEWS Jon Schueler APRIL 2016
(1916-1992)

Two more California museums have recently acquired Jon Schueler paintings for their collections: The UC Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive and Mills College Art Museum, Oakland, CA. This is particularly pleasing as Schueler was at the California School of Fine Arts from 1948-1951.

A Walk on Sunday, o/c 562; Berkeley Art Museum

The Joan Mitchell Foundation has generously donated one of the two small paintings, bought from Jon Schueler in 1971, to the Albright- Knox Art Gallery in Buffalo, NY. 49 museums in the US and UK (and one in Australia) now own Schuelers.

North to Ornsay, o/c 994; Univ. of Wyoming

During the past year the Director of the University of Wyoming Art Museum, Susan Moldenhauer, and Curator of Collections, Nicole Crawford, have selected eighteen Schuelers, which leave in late April for their new home.

To commemorate the special Schueler Centenary year, the Jon Schueler Estate has printed 6 greeting cards and 7 postcards, which can be purchased wholesale by museum gift shops, and retail from the web site. Exciting to see the orders coming in.

The Sound of Sleat: Red in a Summer Night, IX, o/c 13; Resipole Studios

Centennial exhibitions in Scotland include Kelvingrove Art Gallery, Glasgow; the University of Stirling; Mallaig Heritage Centre; Sabhal Mòr Ostaig, Isle of Skye; An Talla Solais and Rhue Art, both in Ullapool; Inverness Museum and Art Gallery; Paisley Museum and Art Galleries; the Resipole Studios and Fine Art Gallery, Argyllshire; and The Iona Gallery, Kingussie, Oct.1-29. See the leaflet and map at jonschueler.com

In the United States Clouds, Temporarily Visible is currently on at the Weisman Art Museum, Minneapolis, and the expansive Schueler watercolor show from 1967-69 opens at the Arkansas Arts Center, Little Rock in August. The centennial finale takes place at Berry Campbell in New York : Jon Schueler: The Woman in the Sky from Nov. 17 -Dec. 23.

Phyllis, o/c 65-7; Berry Campbell